Highlights

Traffic deaths in Georgia in 1985 decreased by 3.4 per cent to 1362 from a high in 1984 of 1410. At the same time, miles of travel in Georgia increased by 4.2 percent from 44 and a half billion in 1984 to 46 and a half billion in 1985. The net resulting death rate—the number of deaths per 100 million miles of travel—fell to its lowest in the history of motorized travel in Georgia...2.9 deaths.

While the number of traffic deaths in Georgia in 1985 was falling, the number of reported traffic accidents and injuries was up by several percentage points. There were 192,500 traffic accidents reported in 1984, but in 1985 that number rose to 212,300. The number of injuries was up to 54,000 from 50,600 reported in 1984. The increase in accidents and injuries is accounted for by an increase in numbers of vehicles registered and miles traveled.

Having a positive bearing on the reduction in traffic deaths in 1985 was a reduction in the number of alcohol related traffic deaths. In 1984 it was reported that 515 or 37 percent of traffic deaths were alcohol related. In 1985 the percentage was 31 percent or 91 fewer alcohol related deaths.

1985 was a near record year for Georgia State Patrol enforcement activities. Contributing to the lower number of deaths were such Patrol campaigns as Fast Lane Blues, Operation Pipeline, and a series of concentrated patrols aimed primarily at law breaking truckers. The concentrated truck road checks were held at more than 20 locations around the state during 1985 and had a positive bearing on reducing the number of dangerous violations attributed to a small segment of the trucking population.

Fast Lane Blues was conceived as a high profile enforcement effort on the Atlanta metropolitan interstate system. State Patrol officers teamed with local agency officers providing a blanket coverage of areas such as I-285 on a routine basis. The effort was principally aimed at speeders, lane changers and dangerous tailgaters. The results were so successful that morning radio traffic reporters were telling of better traffic flows and lower number of accidents on days when the concentration of officers was present.

State troopers began an important new training program in 1985 with about 80 officers receiving special instructions from anti-drug smuggling experts within the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) on how to spot potential drug couriers in relation to routine traffic stops. Stationed principally along interstate routes, the specially trained officers now make regular stops of vehicles for speeding, weaving, or DUI and then find large quantities of smuggled cocaine, marijuana and other illicit drugs. To date seizures have run into the millions of dollars and arrests over 100. Training is being broadened to include all members of the Patrol.

Other high visibility efforts of the State Patrol in 1985 included participation with adjoining states in Operation: CARE, a joint safety and awareness campaign during holidays; and participation in the annual National Drunk and Drugged Driver Awareness Week, when lower speeds, seat belt use, and no alcohol were urged through the media.

So successful were the State Patrol's efforts at high visibility in 1985, that an increase in traffic deaths early in the year was reversed in the second half of 1985 and the year ended with a reduction in traffic deaths.

In the legislative arena, 1985 saw several improvements to the benefit of traffic safety. There were improvements made in the 1983 drunk driving law on passage of legislation to raise the minimum drinking age in compliance with federal mandates. In September of 1985 the minimum drinking age rose to 20 and in 1986, September, it was to raise again to age 21. The result was expected to increase the longevity of those drivers under age 20 who previously were prone to purchase alcohol at age 19 and then consume it behind the wheel of a car. Also in 1985 a measure passed the legislature to tighen safety around school bus hauling of students. Now the law permits the reporting of any driver who passes a stopped school bus. This report may be made to any enforcement officer who then will seek to find the violator and upon conviction have a violation charged against his or her record.

The Georgia State Patrol's success in positive enforcement efforts in 1985 did not come without obstacles. Under a federal court ruling directing the U.S. Department of Labor to count law enforcement duty time more closely, the Department was required to alter its time keeping records permitting only a certain number of hours per day and per month as duty time and to pay over time for any excess hours. Gone was the time honored tradition of working that extra hour or two on some emergency or other project without records and compensation. In adjusting its allocation of duty hours and coverage the Patrol lost a small amount of service time but now is in full compliance with the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1985.

In 1985 the State Patrol graduated 25 new members of the Department raising the total trooper strength to 816. Graduates were the best trained ever, undergoing more than 16 weeks of diverse and intensive classroom work supported by field training in pursuit driving and firearms use. The graduates were dispatched to areas of the state which have shown growth patterns indicating a need for additional trooper strength. Additionally, in 1985 the Department initiated a program of training at the post level utilizing FTOs or Field Training Officers. Their duties consist of monitoring new recruits once they complete trooper school and organizing and carrying out in-service training functions at the local level. FTOs are chosen for their natural leadership and training abilities.

1985 was one of the most productive and high profile years in the history of the Georgia State Patrol and one that saw positive results in lower numbers of deaths and a lower death rate on the state's highways.

Twenty troopers and two radio operators are assigned to Executive Security. These twenty troopers furnish continual security for the Governor and his family, the Lieuten ant Governor and the Speaker of the House. Executive Security operates directly under the Commissioner.

PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS

The Professional Standards was created to provide legal, administrative, and investigative assistance for the Department of Public Safety.

During 1985, 93 pre-employment background investigations and 34 internal investigations were performed.

In May 1985, the Georgia State Patrol Counter-Terrorist Unit, consisting of 24 sworn personnel trained in hostage rescue techniques, scouting and patrolling in both urban and rural environments, riot control and related skills, was assigned to the Professional Standards Section.

Fast Lane Blues Campaign

PUBLIC INFORMATION OFFICE

A major function of the Public Information Office was the coordinating of information throughout the department and between the department and the news media. During 1985 several public service campaigns were handled by the Public Information Office.

Several of those projects were done in conjunction with other state agencies and attached agencies. Many man hours were used in the promotion of the emission control campaign. The campaign involved informing the driving public of the new laws and how those laws affected them.

Day-to-day activities of the department were reported through the Daily Bulletin. DPS employees were encouraged to report any news from their area to the Public Information Office. By doing this, all employees of the department were aware of the activities from north Georgia to south Georgia.

The Department of Public Safety Photo Lab and the Graphics Unit were also included in the Public Information section. All departmental photos and accident reports pictures were processed by the Photo Lab. In-house art work was handled by the Graphics Unit. Most brochure and cover designs, layout for departmental manuals and billboards were also done in-house by the Graphics Unit.

PERSONNEL

The Personnel Office is responsible for maintaining personnel records for all employees of the Department of Public Safety and its attached agencies. All sick, annual, compensatory, and forfeited leave records are maintained by the Personnel Office along with all employment status changes. All insurance, deferred compensation, performance reports, faithful service awards, and workers' compensation claims and problems are handled by the Personnel Office.

During the past year, the Personnel Office was responsible for the implementation of the Fair Labor Standards Act within the Department and for monitoring Departmental implementation of the Statewide Class Reassignment which was effective on July 1, 1985.

The Personnel Office announces all position vacancies, screens all applicants for employment and, by working with the State Merit System, insures that each new employee is qualified for appointment and/or promotion.

In addition to the aforementioned responsibilities, POST certification for new troopers is initiated by the Personnel Office and all warrants and commissions for Department officers are completed by the Personnel Office.

TRAINING UNIT

The Training Section partakes in the delivery and planning of various programs related to law enforcement and military throughout the state. In addition the section assists in the investigation of major traffic accidents at the request of local authorities.

Another responsibility of the Training Section is to provide information on courses offered through the State Merit System. Thirty civilian personnel took advantage of these courses.

In 1985 there was one trooper school which consisted of twenty-two cadets. This was the 60th Trooper School. There were sixteen weeks of intensive training or approximately 887 hours of classroom instruction. Each cadet earned either eighteen hours of college credit towards an AA or BS Degree or ten hours toward a Master Degree, depending on his or her college level.

Affirmative Action

The Department of Public Safety's Affirmative Action Program has the responsibility of recruiting minorities through the Trooper Cadet, Radio Operator Trainee and License Examiner recruitment programs. Also provides technical assistance to departmental supervisors regarding goalsetting and workforce analysis.

This office conducts minority recruiting by visiting colleges, vocational schools and employment agencies with assistance from local post troopers to all parts of the state. Pamphlets and other written material, in addition to field recruitment is distributed to local employment agencies.

The Affirmative Action office is responsible for the interviewing of qualified personnel and for explaining employment opportunities to perspective employees.

Executive Officer

COMPUTER SERVICES DIVISION

1985 brought the long awaited implementation of the 'new' driver license records system. Considering the enormity of running new and old systems parallel to test, then converting in excess of 25 million records, a remarkably smooth transition was made. The Department is already reaping the rewards of faster more efficient and economical computer operations.

1985 also spotlighted the kick-off of the new system for the issuing of driver licenses. This is known as CAI or Computer Assisted Issuance. This concept allows the computer to assist the examiner by reducing the required amount of typing, reducing VOIDS (required retyping the entire application when an error was made) and substantially decreasing the time necessary to complete the paper work for each applicant.

The new CAI system was pilot-run at the Capitol Area Issuing Station until proven operational. In the next year this system will be installed throughout the state.

The Data Central Unit, which handles all data entry, performed the arduous task of entering data in both the old and new systems to make parallel check-out of the new system possible, and assisted in the resolution of problems relating to data entered in the new system. This was no small task with four million plus documents coming in, not including the 2,057,109 MVR's requested on magnetic tape.

The Personal Computer (PC) group developed end-user programs for permits, radar inventory, fata accident statistical reporting and started work on the Personnel System. These programs utilize the powerful R Base 5000 data base management system with a state-of-the-art query system called 'Clout' which allows the non-programmer user personnel to ask "English Language" questions and retrieve data and simple reports without learning how to program.

The Permits Section issued the following number of license/permits:

Racetrack License	16
Emergency Light Permits
Amber - 1 year	8,431
Amber - 5 years	201
Red - 1 year	2,372
Red - 5 years	788
Blue - 1 year	95
Blue - 5 years	2,4243
Group Permits (Govt. Agencies)
TOTAL:	14,135
Radar Permits	13
Amended Radar Permits	23
Tinted Window Permits	12
TOTAL PERMITS ISSUED:	16,258

Permits Section

The Permits Section of Department of Public Safety issues permits of licenses for operation of wholesale/retail of small firearms, emergency lights, racetrack, radar speed-timing devices and tinted windows to qualified applicants.

Emergency light permits for governmental agencies are issued for 5 years. Private businesses and individuals are issued a permit for 1 year. Permits for the operation of radar speed-timing device is valid until suspended, revoked or cancelled. The Permit Section processed 23 amendments to the present radar permits on file, in addition to issuing 13 new permits.

Driver Support

DRIVER SERVICES

1985 recorded two million requests for driver transcripts. Throughout Georgia, there were 56 permanent examining stations with 140 field examiners. Of the 159 counties that did not have permanent examining stations, a traveling detail was utilized. An examiner was available in each of those particular counties for at least once a month to give tests for drivers' licenses and other related duties.

DRIVER IMPROVEMENT

The Driver Improvement Unit oversees the licensing of Driver Improvement Clinics and Instructors as well as Commercial Driver Training Schools and Instructors.

The Driver Improvement Clinics have increased from one hundred and twenty-four (124) to one hundred and forty-two (142) with twenty-seven (27) clinic applications pending. The Driver Improvement Clinic instructors have increased from four hundred and twenty-six (426) to four hundred and fifty-five (455) with fifty-six (56) instructor applications pending. There are currently twenty-four (24) Commercial Driver Training Schools with one (1) school applications pending and eighty-two (82) Commercial Driver Training instructors with five (5) instructor applications pending.

ACCIDENT REPORTING

Accident Reporting obtains and processes statistical breakdowns of accident reports throughout Georgia. Reports are kept of accidents which have damages of $250 or more. Copies of these files were available to attorneys, individuals and police agencies upon request. The state's Department of Transportation was routinely sent copies of accident reports to plot locations of accidents. FARS (Fatal Accident Reporting System, within ARD, part of the federal network) reports all information about fatalities to Washington for the federal headquarters, for analysis and breakdown.

REVOCATION AND SUSPENSION

Under Georgia law driving privileges are suspended for several reasons. Revocation and Suspension handled the records of those drivers who had been convicted in court of a suspendable offense or had accumulated more than 15 points against their license in a two year period.

Adjutant

ADJUTANT'S OFFICE

The duties of the Adjutant's Office included being responsible for the Awards Program, Employee's Suggestion Committee, maintaining the DPS policy manual, assisting the Veterans Administration with their program, the training of cadets working at headquarters and providing assistance with instructing employees in trooper school.

Many of the responsibilities under the Adjutant's Office are in assisting the Commissioner and both Commanding Officers in the day-to-day duties of the Department of Public Safety.

Implied Consent Training Unit

The Implied Consent Training Unit is detached to GBI, and consists of nine (9) state patrolmen. There were twenty-one (21) basic intoximeter classes on the operation of the IR-3000 and ten (10) refresher schools on the IR-3000 and other breath testing instruments. The classes were conducted at the Georgia Police Academy. Implied Consent Unit also installed 175 new IR-3000 intoximeters throughout Georgia. Also, all uniform personnel in the Georgia State Patrol were trained by this Unit on the proper use of the alcosensor.

AVIATION UNIT

During 1985, the Georgia State Patrol Aviation Unit was enhanced by the upgrading of aircraft as well as support equipment.

The Georgia State Patrol Helicopters were upgraded to an all Turbine Engine Fleet which provides greater reliability and safety. We are currently operating (8) helicopters, (2) Twin Engine, and (4) Single Engine Airplanes.

Night vision equipment was also acquired in 1985, along with two powerfull search lights that should greatly improve night airsearch missions.

3,224 flight hours were accumulated in support of the Governor's Task Force on Drug Suppresseion, as well as Federal and Local Law Enforcement Agencies.

Emission Control

In 1985, 433,248 vehicles were inspected. Owners of these gasoline-burning vehicles were required to show proof of inspection before purchasing tags or decals on January 1, 1986, and thereafter. The gross vehicle weight was changed from 6,000 lbs. to 8,500 lbs. There were two other changes made. Current 10 year model was changed to 12 year model and the cost of an emission inspection was changed from $3.00 to $5.00. Private inspection stations in 1985 numbered 352 and there were 79 fleet inspeciton stations in operation in the Atlanta Metropolitan Area.

School Bus Safety Unit

The School Bus Safety Unit Conducts instructor trainer schools throughout the State for school bus Driver Trainers, supervisors, and administrators. The unit also conducts special schools for special needs, provides classroom training for bus drivers, provides training materials and aids to instructors, assists in planning safety programs, conducts the State School Bus Roadeo program and co-ordinates with the field troopers in administering the statewide school bus inspection program. Ongoing programs are:

I. School Bus Driver Trainer Instructor Schools—Basic Course
Three day schools are designed to provide classroom instruction in the following areas: (1) formulating and/or upgrading a Bus Driver Training Program, (2) acquiring and using training material and visual aids, (3) preparing and making class presentations, (4) public relations with students, teachers, administrators and maintaining credibility with drivers, (5) promoting interaction and exchange of ideas.

In the past seven years these courses have been attended by superintendents, assistant superintendents, transportation directors, trainers, supervisors and bus drivers who are trainers or will be used in training.

II. School Bus Driver Trainer Instructor Schools—Advanced Course
Three day schools are designed for those trainers who have previously attended the School Bus Driver Trainer Instructor School-Basic Course. It will consist of more comprehensive lesson plans, class presentations and practical instruction techniques.

III. School Bus Driver Trainer Symposium
A three day symposium is designed for instructor trainers who have previously attended a basic instruction school and have on-going training programs.

IV. School Bus Drivers Administrators Seminar
This seminar is designed for transportation directors and other administrators who have sent instructor trainers to the basic instructor schools described above under Roman Numeral I.

V. School Bus Driver Trainer Range Schools
Schools are designed to provide instruction on teaching "hands-on" bus maneuvering.

VI. School Bus Driver Trainer Instructor School Special Education Seminar
This two day seminar deals only with transportation of special education children.

Adjutant

School Bus Safety

VII. School Bus Driver Institutes
Pre-school institutes are designed to provide one day of in-service classroom instruction for bus drivers from six to seventeen school systems at each institute. Smaller two night institutes are held during the school year for two to six school systems at each institute.

VIII. Assisting in Local Driver Training
Participation in local training programs is ongoing thru school year.

IX. Roadeos are designed to improve driver skills and knowledge of maneuverability by means of practical skill tests that simulate actual driving problems. Each system may send two drivers to area competition. Competition areas generally coincide with new congressional districts. It is suggested (but not required) that representatives be selected thru local competition.

X. State School Bus Driver Roadeo
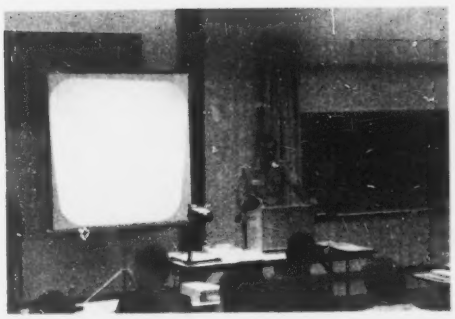
Beginning with over 6000 drivers participating at the local level, thru the nine area roadeos, the field has been narrowed to approximately 40 drivers who participate in a two day event consisting of range competition, personal interviews, written test, and physical bus inspection. In the 1985 National Roadeo, two Georgia drivers finished in the top ten. Cecil Weaver from Appling County was ninth, and Robert Black from Decatur County tied for first.



Classroom instruction

The school bus safety unit attemps to respond to all requests for assistance from local systems from checking school bus stops to after accident schools bus inspection. Over 815,000 students are transported over 83 million miles each year in 9500 Georgia school buses. We are working to help keem them safe.

INTRA AGENCY HIGHWAY SUPPORT

The Intra Agency Highway Support Unit (IAHS) is a Statewide Enforcement Unit that consists of thirty-one (31) Troopers. The Unit is divided into seven (7) Districts covering Georgia. Office space is provided by the seven (7) DOT District Offices. Troopers provide enforcement and high visibility patrol functions in hazardous DOT maintenance and construction areas. Enforcement effort resulted in 20,567 traffic stops and logged 798,900 miles.

Homer Brisendine

Since Public Safety has 7 agencies attached to it for administrative purposes, this division also provides administrative support for the Georgia Policy Academy, Georgia Peace Officers Standards and Training Council, Georgia Fire Academy, Georgia Firefighters Standards and Training Council, Organized Crime Prevention Council, Public Safety Training Center and the Office of Highway Safety.

Accounting Services

The Accounting Unit has the responsibility for the receipt and expenditure of appropriated funds. In Fiscal year 1985, $63,900,526 were expended. Funds received were from state, federal, and other fund sources. The accounting officer, with a staff of eight, must code, process, and enter into the computer system all financial transactions including revenue receipts, expense invoices (over 100,000 yearly) and general accounting journal vouchers. All of the accounting work is processed through the Fiscal Accounting and Control System (FACS) which produces all necessary checks and reports.

Payroll

The Payroll Unit is run by the payroll supervisor. It is responsible for the preparation and statewide distribution of the department's payroll and related reporting requirements. There are 24 payrolls processed during the fiscal year and approximately 1548 employees paid each pay period.

Central Cashier

This unit receives and audits all fees collected, through various sources, by the department and transfers them to the State Treasury. There are 56 drivers license examining stations statewide which accounted for almost 50% of the fee revenue collected in fiscal year 1985. Approximately 2,800 reports were received from these stations which accounted for 1,265,830 drivers license sales totaling $5,570,104 in collected fee revenue. These fees are deposited in 56 separate bank accounts statewide and transferred to the State Treasury on a weekly basis. Other fees collected in the Atlanta Headquarters totaled $6,046,089. The majority of these collections were for driver's motor vehicle records and amounted to over $4,965,465. The total revenue collected and transferred to the State Treasury for fiscal year 1985 was $11,616,192.

Budget Services

Five units make up Budget Services. They include Budget, Grants Management, Procurement, Property, and Records Management/Printing Coordination. These units are supervised by the Fiscal/Budget Administrator.

Grants Management

Grants Management coordinates Federal and other funds coming into the department. In 1985, the Department of Public Safety received federal funds in the amount of $3,303,270 and other funds for $1,993,698.

Procurement Section

The Procurement Office is responsible for the purchasing of goods and services for the department. It is also responsible for the auditing of the troop and detached agencies purchases. All contracts entered into by the department are handled by the Procurement Office. Insurance claims involving building and contents are processed here. In fiscal year 1985 they processed 11,000 transactions at a value of approximately 11 million dollars.

Records Management

The purpose of the Records Management Unit is to apply management techniques to the creation, utilization maintenance, retention, preservation and disposal of records undertaken to reduce costs and improve efficiency of the record keeping process. Records Management includes management of filing and microfilming equipment and supplies; filing and information retrieval systems; files, correspondence, reports and forms management; historical documentations; micrographics, retention programing and vital records protection. The Records Management Office also coordinates printing services for the Department.

Property

The Property Management Unit maintains an inventory of over 20,000 items of non-expendable property and insures compliance with various Federal and State regulations governing the disposition of same. Also, the Property Unit has the added responsibility for our seven attached agencies.

During fiscal year 1985 Property Unit processed approximately 7000 transactions at a value of 1,185,604.00.

Supply

The Supply Unit formulates and maintains inventory stock levels and utilization rates of all departmental supplies, forms, uniforms and weapons.

The Mail Room, also a part of the Supply Unit, is responsible for all incoming mail and the distribution of same. Also, the processing of all outgoing mail, keeping daily logs on dollar amount of postage spent by the department.

Maintenance

The Maintenance Unit performs the overall program of facilities and grounds maintenance at the departments headquarters complex. Also, when feasible, assist Patrol Posts and examining stations in the field.

NO FAULT INSURANCE

The Department of Public Safety No Fault Unit is responsible for getting owners and operators of vehicles to comply with the No Fault Law. Georgia's No Fault Insurance law requires all vehicles to be covered by a minimum 15-30-10-15 no fault policy and that proof of coverage must be carried in the vehicle at all times. Insurance companies are required to report cancellations to the department when it is evident that replacement coverage has not been obtained. The owner's license is suspended until coverage is proved and a reinstatement fee of $25.00 is paid.
